INTRODUCTION

We're thrilled to announce the Plenty Ranges Arts and Convention Centre's 2026 Performance Program in celebration of PRACC's 30th birthday!

After the success of the inaugural program in 2025, we're bringing you a bigger and bolder program. We've carefully curated a mix of shows spanning genres and performance styles that will delight and enchant audiences. An eclectic mix of music, comedy, children's theatre, visual art, workshops and dance, there is something for everyone to enjoy.

Our morning melodies shows will see some exquisite entertainers including Rhonda Burchmore, Bobby Fox and crowd favourite Silvie Paladino. We'll roll in the aisles with laughter with household names and up and coming comedians. We'll follow the adventurous echidnas, wallabies and beasts in children's theatre.

Supporting local talent and artists is at the heart of the program, providing an opportunity for residents to express themselves and their incredible talents with Crescendo Screen Classics and The Next Verse. We're pleased to introduce a creative program of workshops for the community to learn new skills and indulge in their creative side.

In 2026, we're here to celebrate 30 years of performances, events and nurturing community spirit at PRACC. For 30 years PRACC has helped shape the community, brought people together to create memories and nurtured creativity. We'll look ahead towards a bright future of new talent and ideas, so mark your calendars and get ready for a joyful and fun year ahead.

EMPOWERING
YOUNG PEOPLE

Youth Services

City of Whittlesea Youth Services provides programs, support, and opportunities for young people aged 8–25 who live, work, study, or spend time in our community.

Our Youth Workers deliver a wide range of activities in schools, libraries, community centres, and youth spaces, as well as free and low-cost events during every school holiday period. In 2025, we've expanded to include children in the Middle Years (8–12), alongside ongoing programs for young people up to 25.

We value and empower young people by supporting wellbeing, leadership, and connection. A key part of this is our Youth Council, a formal advisory group of young people aged 12–22 who represent the voice of young people across our municipality.

Whether it's developing skills, meeting new people, or having a say on local issues, City of Whittlesea Youth Services is here for young people and families.
